

Keep your SNF-qualified residents with you, longer

With the Optum care model + UnitedHealthcare® assisted living plan

The Optum clinical care model is helping assisted living communities maintain their residents' health and extend their length of stay, eight months longer than the national average.¹ Here's a look at how these plans make this possible, and what your community may miss when there isn't a plan in place.

Extend your residents' length of stay

With Optum's assisted living plan, you get the support you need to keep residents at home in your community.
